

The Beer Search Party was created by Sean Inman to guide people to an even better beer. How does Sean do this? With the Beer Search Party website, quarterly beer tastings, in-home beer education events and beer travel advice (like this).

DENVER BEER TOUR

There is a reason why the Great American Beer Festival comes to Denver every September. LoDo is a great area that is easily walkable and multiple beer destinations that you really have to check out.

1634 18th Street
Denver, Colorado
(303) 297-2700
Monday-Friday 11am to 2am
www.wynkoop.com

We start our mile high beer adventure at the place that really started the LoDo renaissance. Mayor John Hickenlooper turned the Wynkoop into a truly inviting space. With two floors for weary beer travelers new to the city.

Suggested Beer to try – Railyard Ale (now in cans) or B3K Schwarzbier

2201 Arapahoe Street
Denver, Colorado
(303) 296-9460
Monday – Tuesday 2pm to 8pm
Wednesday-Saturday 2pm to 10pm
www.greatdivide.com

From large space to small and intimate, Great Divide has a lovely little tap room where you can find the latest creations as well as shirts and growlers to go. The staff is very friendly and helpful.

Suggested Beer to try – Claymore Scotch Ale or Oak Aged Yeti.

1919 Blake Street
Denver, Colorado

(303) 293-8338

Monday – Sunday 11am to 2am

www.fallingrocktaphouse.com

This is the home away from home for anybody who is GABF'ing. The patio is a beautiful place to unwind with either a local brew or a new find. The choices expand exponentially during the festival. You could wind up here all day.

Suggested Beer to try – Look for Odell's or ask for what is new. This list moves to fast to choose one beer.

2220 Blake Street
Denver, Colorado

(303) 297-3644

Monday – Sunday 11am to midnight

www.breckbrew.com

Next to Coors Field is not only their Blue Moon pub at the ballpark but also an outpost of Breckenridge. They have a large space and really good grilled cheese with bacon sandwiches. The beer choices are plentiful with something for everyone.

Suggested Beer to try – Try the Small Batch 471 series. The IPA or the ESB in particular.